GENERAL NEWS.

The Chicago Tribune Advocates Passage of the Chinese Bill.

RAILROADS COMMENCE CUTTING ON PASSENGER RATES.

New Breaks Caused in Louisiana Levees by the High Winds—Hundreds of Destitute Brought Into Vicksburg.

[illegible] the Tribune [illegible] bill passed last week [illegible] at Washington [illegible] emergency which should [illegible] Chinese [illegible] coast. They [illegible] arranged to take the [illegible] the new restricting Chinese [illegible] United States consuls in China wholesale issue of immigration certificates. The promptness of the senate in dealing with the Chinese question should be imitated by the house.

Cutting Rates.

KANSAS CITY, March 21.—Passenger rates from Missouri points were demoralized yesterday [illegible] selling to New York for $1 to $18 a first [illegible] $10 to $1. Fare to Chicago [illegible] and $5 was the general rate except at the Chicago & Union [illegible] which under orders maintained the rate at [illegible] Wabash and Rock Island roads led the cutting. The existence of 500 of the Wabash cheap fare unlimited tickets in the hands of scalpers is the cause of the difficulty.

High Winds Feared.

VICKSBURG, March 22.—A heavy wind and rain storm occurred last night and a strong wind to-day causes a heavy swell on the river which it is feared will cause new breaks in the levees. The steamer from Deer Creek brings 150 head of stock from L. A. Campbell's and reports the water 7 to 10 inches deep on the plantations around Campbellville. All boats bring a large number of refugees, mostly colored laborers. At Mayersville they are supplied by planters and will go to work as soon as the water subsides. Duckport is still above water. Planting commenced there yesterday. The wharf and elevator platforms are all afloat.

Forage Needed for Stock.

BATON ROUGE, March 22.—General York telegraphs the governor from Troy landing that they are distributing forage on Black river. The country is in fearful distress and there are 350 head of stock on Black, Tensas and Little rivers that must be fed to save them. Corn and oats are shipped by the steamer St. John to be distributed to-morrow on the Tensas river. General York advises shipment of forage for stock on all the streams above mentioned, also bayous Macon and Bartholomew. The river is rising rapidly. He has chartered a steamer to remove stock.

Crevasses in Alba Levee.

NEW ORLEANS, March 22.—There is some abatement in the water on the Ouachita river at Trenton but it is rising in the Boeuf river and Bayou Macon. The crevasses reported to-day in the Alba levee will add greatly to the flood of waters already deluging the country between Bayou Macon and the Mississippi river, and from South Red river to Arkansas.

An Entire Levee Gone.

VICKSBURG, March 22.—The U. S. river commission steamer brings news of a break at the Alsatia levee. Thompson's bend—the worst break south of Helena on the Louisiana side. There are breaks at Alsatia, Arlee and Mrs. Savage's, and the entire levee to Belleplace is gone. A storm last night is the cause. The river has fallen three inches the past 24 hours.

Suicide or Accidental Death.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Phillip Van Rensselaer, a younger member of the Knickerbocker family of that name, was found dead at the Brunswick hotel this morning with a bullet through his brain. It is a question whether he committed suicide or death was accidental. His family claim no cause for his taking his life. He was wealthy and had everything that should make life pleasant. He was a great traveler and had only recently returned from San Francisco where he had spent some time after an extended trip through the western wilds on horseback.

Kansas Crop Reports.

KANSAS CITY, March 22.—From all over Kansas comes reports of the most flattering character in relation to crop prospects. Wheat is in advance of the season and never looked better. An unusually mild winter and frequent rains have given plants an opportunity to spread and strengthen their beauties and now as the weather grows warmer blades are pushing rapidly, giving promise of a plentiful harvest. Much of the spring grain has been sown, and a large breadth of corn ground has been planted. Fruit prospects are most encouraging.

Senator Teller Confident.

DENVER, March 22.—Private dispatches from Senator Teller to his friends here state positively that the senator will be appointed secretary of the interior to-morrow or next day. His friends say Arthur offered him the place some time ago but he then desired to be his own successor in the senate. He has now become persuaded that the senatorial fight will be too hot and has consented to accept the interior position.

Railroad Matters.

DALLAS, Texas, March 22.—Rumor says the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad will build to Dallas and San Antonio. Arrangements were previously made to reach Dallas by the Gulf & Pacific, to be constructed from Sabine pass to Albuquerque. It was stated last night that the chief engineer and general passenger agent of the Chicago, Texas and Mexican Central road have resigned. Cause, failure of the syndicate and indebtedness of the directory. Prominent citizens of Dallas threaten to resign unless matters brighten. The home office of the road is at Chicago.

A Boom in Stocks.

BOSTON, March 22.—Much speculation was caused on State street to-day by the sudden appreciation of California Southern railroad subscriptions, block B, 2d of which sold at 30 to 35 premium yesterday, and leaped by $25 bounds to $150. The theory is the Southern Pacific is after the California Southern in order to head off the Atchison company, but officials of the Southern road say no negotiations are in progress, and they know nothing of the cause of to-day's movement. Buying was by brokers not identified with large houses and included stock as well as bonds.

Gould Controls the Mutual Union.

NEW YORK, March 22.—The Post says it is now beyond question that Jay Gould and those who work with and for him have secured (price not being given) a majority of the capital stock of the Mutual Union Telegraph Co. From this fact it does not follow there is to be a consolidation of the two companies, but simply they will work in harmony instead of rivalry.

Mine Sold.

NEW YORK, March 21.—The Palmetto Consolidated Mining and Milling Company, situated in Hinsdale county, Colorado, was sold to-day at public auction to pay the judgment obtained against it by Wm. L. Martin. It brought only $15,000, John H. Maugham being the purchaser.

Pardoned.

Times special: Royal B. Conant, when cashier of the Eliot national bank in Boston, embezzled $7000, and was sentenced to Dedham jail for seven years. On the ground that his health had been undermined by two years' confinement President Arthur has pardoned him.

Murder and Suicide.

EMMETSBURG, Iowa, March 22.—A tragedy has occurred ten miles north of the town. Charles Cornelius and Fred Miller, highland Scots lately from the old country, became involved in a dispute. Cornelius procured a revolver and shot Miller dead and then put two bullets into his own brain and fell dead in his tracks.

Work for the Postal Service.

BOSTON, March 22.—Postmaster General Howe in a conference to-day with merchants and others regarding mail transportation promised to give his attention to the complaint that the Australian mail bound east was delayed by stoppage at Chicago. He expects to save 24 hours time in service between New York and San Francisco.

Sentence Commuted.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., March 22.—The governor has commuted the sentence of John Gains to imprisonment for life. He was to have been hanged Friday in Chicago. The governor believes Gains to be an imbecile.

Robertson Refuses to Talk.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Collector Robertson, being interviewed in regard to the statement of Shipherd before the foreign affairs committee to-day, said: I do not wish to make any statement one way or the other until the full report of proceedings is made.

Civil Service Examinations.

London Truth.

A youth undergoing examination a few days ago for admission to one of the government departments at Washington found himself confronted with the question: "What is the distance from the earth to the sun?" Not having the exact number of miles with him, he wrote on the space set apart for the answer: "I am unable to state accurately, but don't believe the sun is near enough to interfere with a proper performance of my duties if I get the clerkship."

The New York Commercial Advertiser has sand enough to come out and spell it wynd instead of wind. If the wynd blows let her rip, and if you spell it sacque be man enough to also call it hacque.

From Marblehead, Mass., Mr. George F. Young, of the American House, writes that he was cured of a severe sore throat by the application of St. Jacobs Oil, and nothing else.

House.

House, according to agreement made last night, proceeded to vote upon the [illegible] majority's proposition making the Geneva award bill special order for April 11th, subject however to [illegible] appropriation bills and bill referring [illegible] claims to court of claims. The resolution to that effect was adopted by yeas 152, nays 50.

The Chinese bill was taken up and Washburn spoke in favor, claiming the continuance of Chinese immigration would bring about the greatest of all dangers, the degradation of labor. He contended there was no analogy between immigration from Europe and China. It was the part of wisdom not to degrade labor but to bring labor and capital in accord.

On motion of Page of California house at 4:10 took a recess until to-morrow at 10 o'clock, Page giving notice he would at 2 o'clock demand the previous question on the bill.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

California Court Notes.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—Appeals of the Gas and Water company against the old board of equalization were argued to-day in the supreme court, and applicants allowed five days to file briefs and ten days were allowed respondents in which to answer.

Trial of the suit brought by Thomas Graham against the Southern Pacific Railroad company to recover $10,000 for the death of his son commenced to-day before Judge Sullivan.

In the case of James A. Beehorn against the Big Meadows and Bodie Wagon road, an action to recover damages for injuries sustained by reason of alleged carelessness of defendant, supreme court has reversed the decision of the district court of Mono county.

Kalloch Forming a New Party.

At the instance of ex-Mayor Kalloch a large meeting was held this evening at Union Hall. It is estimated that 2500 were present. The meeting was addressed by Kalloch at some length. It is generally understood the meeting was called for the purpose of reorganizing the old workingmen's party or an independent party with Kalloch as its leader and exponent. The meeting was an initial one, no attempt at organization being made. Kalloch was the only speaker who addressed the meeting. Similar gatherings will be held at the same place two weeks hence and after that every two weeks.

Detached from Duty.

Commodore Edmund R. Calhoun is to be detached from duty as inspector of vessels in California on the 10th of April and placed under waiting orders.

Carpenters for the Canadian Pacific.

Steamer Geo. W. Elder, which sailed to-day for Victoria, B. C., had on board forty carpenters engaged in Canada by A. Onderdonk, Canada Pacific R. R. Co.'s contractor, for a period of 2 years, to work on those sections of railroad named which are covered by his contracts.

Suicide.

Trial by Wholesale.

About 600 violators of the Sunday law for whom warrants were issued presented themselves in a body at the old city hall to-day, accompanied by their bondsmen. They were served with warrants, furnished their bonds and were discharged from custody. It is probable that owing to the number of cases on the police court's docket these trials will go over in a body for the month, but an attempt will be made to try two cases daily in each police court.

Water Rates.

The supervisors to-day resolved to fix water rates for family purposes but not for municipal purposes, holding that water for those purposes should be furnished free.

ARIZONA.

Would not be Arrested.

TUCSON, March 21.—A Star special from Tombstone says: The Earp party arrived in Tombstone at 1 P. M. and went to the Cosmopolitan hotel, stayed there until this evening, until Sheriff Behan went to arrest them, when they drew guns on him and walked out of town, mounted horses and left for the hills. The feeling here in regard to the assassination of Stilwell is growing more intense hourly. Deceased was here in response to a subpena from the court. It is now generally believed that the bandits came down from Tombstone for the purpose of killing Ike Clanton, who has been here for two weeks. To-day, after a hearing before the coroner's jury, a warrant was placed in the hands of Sheriff Paul for the arrest of the Earp party, Holliday and McMaster with others. Learning they had returned to Tombstone this afternoon Paul telegraphed Sheriff Behan of Cochise county at Tombstone to arrest the parties. To-night Sheriff Behan telegraphed Paul he had attempted to make the arrest but was forcibly resisted by the party and a posse of their friends, and asked for assistance, and said that the Earp party had fled to the hills. Sheriff Paul left to-night on a special train for Tombstone to make the arrests. There is no doubt but he will take them, but bloodshed is expected.

NEVADA.

Comstock Notes.

VIRGINIA CITY, March 22.—About [illegible] tons will be extracted from the 2,500 foot level of Union this week. The ore improves in breasting out upon it. There will be more ore out for market next week and a larger amount of ore will be extracted. The quality of the ore is better as they work back from the winze. The only place where ore is being extracted at Mexican is the upraise from the drift on the 2,400 foot level. The west crosscut from this drift is still in material giving favorable assays. The joint Union and Sierra Nevada east winze is now sinking down to the 2900 level. It will require [illegible] days to [illegible]. [illegible] is made very strong. [illegible] is still pumping the streams which hold the water level. The west [illegible] on Chollar 2,600 foot level is showing [illegible] quartz. The ground is dry. The Alta folks are drilling west from the face of the west drift on the 2150 level to guard against water. Weather fair and the snow is fast disappearing.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Victoria Notes.

VICTORIA, March 22.—Petitions for the passage of a Sunday law are pouring into the legislature.

A bill to allow the California syndicate to build a line of railway from Seymour narrows will come before the house to-morrow. The distance is about 144 miles, and the road will run through a country which has been proved to have a vast bed of bituminous and anthracite coal and magnetic iron. The company claim to have given ample security to the Dominion government to build the road to Nanaimo in three years and to Seymour narrows in eight years. They ask no money subsidy, being content to secure the land.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Salisbury's Work.

LONDON, March 22.—Morning papers remark that Parlington's intimations in the commons that the fate of the government is dependent on the closure resolution is unmistakeably one of Salisbury's efforts to excite public opinion on the subject, which is unabated. He writes [illegible] present time is the most critical. It is proposed to abolish liberty of speech in the commons. Dr. [illegible] is virtually supported by the government and [illegible] the latter has almost brought the two houses to a conflict simply to gratify his overweening vanity.

Paulett Wins the Lincolnshire Handicap.

LONDON, March 22.—The Lincolnshire handicap was won by Paulett, Master Walter second, [illegible] third. The American horses Aranza and [illegible] also ran.

An Easy Punishment.

The case of one of the violators of the Sunday law was tried in the police court to-day. The culprit was not a member of the League of Freedom, and to save trouble and expense plead guilty and was let off with $5 fine.

Identified.

The woman who committed suicide at the Sanitarium baths to-day is identified as Mrs. Margaret Rabyston. No cause assigned.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

The Shipherd Investigation Well Under Way.

COLLECTOR ROBERTSON SAID TO HAVE TAKEN A BRIBE.

Little Information Derived of a Damaging Nature from Examination of Shipherd.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—[illegible] growing [illegible] South American [illegible] Chili and Peru are no longer [illegible] diplomats [illegible] agents of American and Parisian [illegible] only in getting the pound of flesh. It was remarked [illegible] South American diplomats that Mr. Trescott's treaty of peace [illegible] larger [illegible] than Chili [illegible] might have been made [illegible] Credit Industriel, Dreyfus Bros. [illegible] their private claimants of Peruvian estates, and entered into the service of Chili, the greatest claimant of all. The report that Dreyfus Bros.' claim of $1,000,000 against Peru, admitted and indorsed by both Peru [illegible]. Interest is variously commented upon and the fact that President Grevy, formerly a well paid attorney of Dreyfus Bros., has requested Mr. Morton to urge upon our government the propriety of joint intervention on the part of France and the United States in such American affairs is condemned in the strong terms. Gen. Hurlbut's resignation received at the state department and accepted was in reply to a request for the same. Gen. Adams, minister to Bolivia, has also been recalled.

Shipherd's Investigation.

J. R. Shipherd before the house foreign committee to-day asserted his sickness was [illegible]. He asserted he was a truthful man. The chairman assured him the committee believed he had not been trifling. Being asked for the missing letters of May 21, 25 and 31, and June 4, he looked in his files and announced there must be some fatality, as he could not find the letter of May 21. Others were found. It was decided to let him obtain the missing copy some future time.

Shipherd stated the letter of May 21 was addressed to the president, and as he had been informed by a letter from his secretary J. Stanley Brown, was referred to the state department. The letter of May 25 was then read. It was as follows:

MAY 25, 1881.

SIR: On 21st inst. I transmitted to the president duplicates of present enclosures, which I presume have been or will be referred to the department. I enclose those for Minister Hurlbut to exchange with him in your discretion and at a proper time. The copies to the president were accompanied with a letter explaining. I shall be glad to be summoned to Washington in due course before Gen. Hurlbut and Gen. Kilpatrick's instructions are prepared.

Very respectfully, J. R. SHIPHERD.

To Hon. J. G. Blaine, Sec'y of State, Washington.

Shipherd was here asked with regard to the enclosure alluded to in the letter and stated he had not made copies of enclosures, as originals were in the state department. He believed a majority if not all of them were in print. The principal enclosure spoken of was the prospectus of the Peruvian Co. The other enclosures were then identified by Shipherd as they appeared in the printed column of correspondence. The letter of May 21st was then read. It was addressed to the president and alluded to enclosures which were also found in printed correspondence and were identified by Shipherd. The letter of June 4th was addressed to the president and simply called attention to an enclosure which was on the 14th page of the letter to Minister Hurlbut before he left for Peru. Shipherd's letter to Hurlbut, in which he asked an interview, was read, and Shipherd stated that on the morning of 8th May he received a telegram from Hurlbut, the tenor of which was: "I will be at Fifth Avenue hotel Sunday and Monday. State when an interview with you can be had. (Signed) S. A. Hurlbut."

Shipherd's letter to Hurlbut arranging for an interview Monday, May 30th, was read. Shipherd then stated he met Hurlbut about nine o'clock as arranged, and after a short interchange of courtesies Hurlbut began conversation with the abrupt remark: "Mr. Shipherd, your figures are enormous." "I replied," said Shipherd, "General, I am not responsible for figures or facts." Hurlbut then stated to me he had sent for me to tell me the president regarded my case as strong in law and equity as it could possibly be, but it was unfortunate Peru should be in such a deplorable condition. He added the only condition on which the president would consent to act would be that the claim should be put in such shape that it would not cause hardship to Peru, but should be refunded and enable Peru to pay her indemnity and get out of her trouble with Chili. "If that could be done government would heartily endorse the scheme." He further said this claim must not be pressed upon Peru in the Shylock fashion. Shipherd replied: "We expect the United States to assist us in the affair as it could command the approval of every fair minded man." I asked him if the secretary of state had given him papers he had alluded to? He replied: "I know nothing of your scheme. I am only telling you what I have been instructed to do." In speaking he never used the term secretary of state, but always used the somewhat vague terms "the government," "the president" or "United States." He desired as full an account in writing of my plans as I could give him, and he would read them with great pleasure, as he said he expected to have advice at the earliest moment, and "I hope you will press your plans as rapidly as possible." Shipherd then made a general statement to the effect that he never imagined it would be necessary to buy any man and never intended to do so. He did however feel it was necessary to prevent Hurlbut from taking a position which might be violently opposed to the company.

Examination of Shipherd was resumed. Shipherd produced a copy of his letter to the president dated April 28, 1881. In this letter Shipherd states the interests of his clients in Peru were so great as to entitle them to consideration in the discussion of any plans affecting the future of that prostrate republic. He further states the purpose of this note is that the decision on appointments of ministers to Chili and Peru shall be reserved until facts relative to the claims of the Peruvian company shall have been laid before the president. Shipherd states he had not yet found the letter of May 21st but had written his son to make a copy and send him, and he expected to lay it before the committee in a few days.

Kasson asked if witness knew any instance in which Hurlbut's official action had been purchased. Shipherd replied that in statements made yesterday he spoke from his knowledge of events that occurred many years ago and which came under his notice at the time and from which he formed this opinion of Hurlbut. In connection with this opinion and in further reply to an inquiry he called attention to the decision of the United States supreme court in the case of Clark vs. the United States, in which it was shown that Hurlbut while in the service of the United States at New Orleans accepted a bribe.

Representative Kasson then asked if in all his (witness') correspondence with Hurlbut the latter never intimated he desired an interest in the Peruvian claim?

Answer—No sir, he never did. No officer of the United States in the diplomatic service or otherwise expressed any desire or listened to any proposals for interest in the claim of the Peruvian company.

Witness was asked by Kasson: "Who now holds the Landreau claim?" and replied: "It is now held by Americans, but I could not without violating private confidence disclose the names of the parties." The legal name of his (Shipherd's) company, witness stated, was the "Peruvian Co.," incorporated under the laws of Georgia in 1876, and every share of stock is held in this country. Witness declined to state how much had been paid in for stock or in what parties the claim was or based, or whether the original parties were paid for their claim in stock of the new company, or whether the company has ever taken possession of any property in Peru, or whether they have a resident agent in Peru. The company have notified Peru of their claim but never received any acknowledgment of their claims. The Peruvian Co. never had any official correspondence with the Peruvian government whatever. Advices of the company has been received from private sources.

[illegible] explained the object of his inquiries to be, whatever the allegation on which the investigation is based, that the Peruvian Co. was purely a speculative enterprise dependent for its success entirely upon influence of this government, if it is a true one, or whether the claim of the company is a solid one and its business such as American citizens have a perfect right to engage in.

About the time Gen. Hurlbut had to go to Peru I consulted with gentlemen intimate with Hurlbut. The opinion which was most clearly in my mind was phrased at that time by one gentleman whose advice I sought. He said: "Steve will follow you at every point if there is not something done for him or suggested to be provided for him. You can count on that. It makes no difference what arrangement you make at Washington, something has got to be done or promised for him." I took the matter under very careful consideration. I looked at the matter as a business man and as attorney for my client. I never proposed to buy anybody for the service of this company. I never supposed it would be necessary to buy anybody, but I became clearly of the opinion that there must be a tub for this whale in some form, that there had got to be something said or suggested which would at least stay Gen. Hurlbut from setting himself absolutely against us. I determined with myself that it would not be wise for me to have any conversation with Gen. Hurlbut on his private interest or provision for himself or his friends. I was determined that whatever I said in that connection I would say it in writing. I wrote this letter to him as deliberately as I ever wrote a letter and have never from that day to this regretted writing it. I have regretted this misapprehension. I did not think of the chance of its being published and of its distressing the whole nation. If I had I should certainly have [illegible]

Excitement in Army Circles.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—[illegible] Col. Bradley has [illegible] excitement [illegible] returned [illegible] greatly [illegible] the word [illegible].

Grant's Advice to Garfield.

Col. Thos. M. Nichol, being interviewed, tells how he [illegible] Garfield [illegible] Grant [illegible]. Soon after the election of 1880 Gen. Garfield gave me a letter to deliver to Gen. Grant. I called at Grant's rooms in Fifth Avenue hotel in New York to hand him the letter. We had perhaps half an hour's conversation about the campaign generally and the Morey letter matter in particular. During the conversation Grant said there were two men that Garfield could never recognize or speak to without entire sacrifice of his own self respect—Hewitt and Rosecrans. He said Hewitt's conduct was outrageously indecent, but that Rosecrans was a great deal worse. For Garfield had been the best friend he ever had. He had stood by him, apologized for his blunders, explained away and excused them and defended him for seventeen years, when if it hadn't been for Garfield he would have long ago sunk out of sight, in the baseness which his worthlessness entitled him to. He said he hoped Garfield had found him out at last and would let him take care of himself hereafter. He was never fit to command an army. He wouldn't or rather couldn't obey orders. He was what he (Grant) called a constitutional insubordinate, a sort of pig headed, obstinate man who would get a selfish prejudice into his head, stick to it and act on it against the judgment and reason of everybody else, and absolutely was incapable of seeing any force in any facts or arguments in conflict with what was for the time being his theory. He said Rosecrans would have utterly destroyed the army of the Cumberland or had it destroyed if it hadn't been for the intelligence of the army itself and especially of such subordinate officers as Garfield and Thomas.

Do I understand you to say, Mr. Nichol, that Gen. Grant expressed that opinion of Rosecrans to you after Garfield's election to the presidency?

Yes sir, about a week after the election. I have given you exactly his ideas and very nearly his language.

Was the conversation confidential?

Not at all. At least I did not so regard it. It was simply a natural bit of conversation growing out of reference to matters of universal conversation. It was nothing in the nature of a communication that I was to carry to anybody else. It interested me very much and I remember it very distinctly.

Committee Matters.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The house committee on ways and means adopted, six to five, the following resolution:

Resolved, That the sub-committee on the changes in internal revenue be instructed to report a bill abolishing all internal revenue taxes except the tax on distilled liquors, malt liquors and manufactured tobacco, and taxes on bank circulation and alcohol medicines, reserving for their discretion a reduction of the tax on sugars and special taxes on dealers, manufacturers, etc.

The senate military committee decided to report adversely the bill providing for placing General Alfred Pleasanton on the retired list.

The house committee on military affairs will offer the following amendment to the army appropriation bill: That any officer of the army who may be supernumerary to a permanent organization authorized by law may upon his own request receive an honorable discharge and one year's pay and allowances for each five years' service, provided that no officer shall receive more than three years' pay and allowance.

Lieut. Harber Heard from.

Secretary Hunt has received a cablegram from Lieut. Harber of the Jeannette search party at Mechinadinsk, as follows:

Dispatch to take charge of the Lena expedition received. I meet Danenhower here. Will report after further consultation. His five men are essential to conduct the search in the Lena. No other seamen can be obtained. They are in splendid condition and very anxious to return with me. I earnestly request to take them. Answer here. HARBER.

Secretary Hunt telegraphed Lieut. Harber that Danenhower's men could accompany if they were willing to go.

The Sergeant Mason Affair.

The wife of Sergeant Mason applies for aid for herself and distressed family and the release of her husband. She says her husband has been a brave soldier, was never in the guard house before, and carries honorable wounds. She thinks he has been punished enough by six months' imprisonment.

HARTFORD, March 22.—The house of representatives has refused to receive a resolution deploring the severe sentence of Sergeant Mason and requesting the president to grant him an unconditional pardon and restore him to the army.

NEW YORK, March 22.—The Central Assembly voted to lay over a petition for the pardon of Sergeant Mason.

Legislation for Railroads.

The secretary of the interior has sent a draft of a bill to the house providing that all railroads in whole or part constructed by grants of public lands on condition that such railroad remain a public highway for use of the government of the United States free from toll or other charge for transportation of any property or troops of the United States, will be authorized to receive fifty per centum of the gross amount due for such transportation.

General Swaim Recommends Clemency.

Judge Advocate General Swaim, it is understood, recommends modification of the sentence of Sergeant Mason upon the ground that Guiteau was not in a position where he could possibly have been killed by Mason, and that under such circumstances the charge of assault with intent to kill cannot be sustained.

Whittaker's Sentence Disapproved.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—At a cabinet meeting to-day the case of Cadet Whittaker was disposed of by disapproving the sentence of dismissal from the service imposed by the court, on the ground that [illegible] evidence taken at the trial was improperly introduced.

The president has issued a formal order disapproving the sentence of court martial in the Whittaker case and ordered his dismissal from arrest.

To be made Public.

The record of the court martial in the case of Cadet Whittaker will be made public to-morrow through special order of the secretary of war.

Teller to be Secretary of the Interior.

The Star says it is stated by [illegible] that it will be announced that Senator Teller of Colorado will be nominated secretary of the interior.

Teller's Successor.

Indications point to Ex-Gov. Routt or J. D. Ward of Colorado as Gov. Pitkin's choice for senator in case a vacancy occurs. Some insist that Pitkin will resign the governorship, making Tabor governor, and be appointed senator himself.

Teller's Influence.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The influence which has brought about the selection of Senator Teller for the interior department has been various. Teller has been a warm supporter of Conkling in his contest with the president. He voted against Merritt's confirmation when Arthur was removed from the New York custom house by Hayes, and also voted against Robertson's confirmation last spring. He is therefore thoroughly acceptable to the stalwart wing. He is also from what may be called a Pacific state and will be in a measure satisfactory to the far west in its demand for recognition in the cabinet. The nomination will be favorably received by railroad interests in the west, particularly by the Union Pacific and Kansas Pacific. His friends have quietly canvassed the senate and house for the purpose of ascertaining how the selection would strike members, and there seems to be no doubt the nomination will go in within a few days, probably this week. Judge Bedford is regarded as successor of Teller in the senate.

Teller's Appointment.

Some assert that Teller's nomination as secretary of the interior will be made to-day or to-morrow. It is said he did not wish to hurry his appointment because he was waiting to hear from Colorado. Some assert Chaffee's friends are insisting [illegible] Teller so that Chaffee may succeed to the senate by the appointment of Gov. Pitkin, who would appoint Teller's successor. Much pressure was made on the president in favor of Chaffee as secretary of the interior, but republicans of Colorado will oppose him bitterly. Some of Kirkwood's friends are said to be going to [illegible] Teller [illegible] acceptable to the stalwarts, who have been talking much with him lately. Three or four [illegible] senators have applied for Teller's seat.

Rations for the Sufferers.

Another Outbreak Likely.

The Indian agent at the Colorado river [illegible] agency, Arizona, telegraphs to the commissioner of Indian affairs from Fort [illegible] that the reduction in rations [illegible] by the Indians cannot be made at this time without suffering to the Indians. This would cause an outbreak. The agent says the Indians refuse to submit to such a reduction of rations on [illegible] that

THE DEPOT.

The plans adopted for a union railroad depot in this city, it is well known, are based upon the purchase of a number of blocks in the north part of the city, adjacent to and including the park blocks north of H street. The number of park blocks included within this purchase is seven, together with a tier of five full blocks on one side and four and a-half blocks on the other. This includes all the tract bounded by H and M, North Seventh and North Eighth streets, except part of one block. Besides this tract the company owns eight or nine blocks lying along the river front from the foot of M street to the upper end of Ainsworth dock. These depot grounds are not too large for the business which many railroads will concentrate here. Their proximity to the water front is also an important consideration, in view of the necessary connection of our railroad system with river and ocean shipping.

But to render the tract available for the purpose portions of streets must be vacated, since a depot which is to be the centre of so many roads doing so great a business must have unobstructed approaches. But the company owns all the property on both sides of such portions of the streets as would be vacated for this purpose; and besides, these sections of the street lie almost or indeed wholly in the lake, and of course have never been used.

The roads from the east—the O. R. & N. Company's line and the Northern Pacific, intersecting the Oregon and California at the present terminus of the latter road on the east side of the river, will follow down the bank of the river on that side to the tract purchased by the company just below Albina. The plan requires the construction of a railroad bridge just above the head of Swan island. This will bring all the roads across the river, whence by easy curves the return up the river to the depot on this side may be made. The Northern Pacific from Kalama will also enter at the same point, and the west side division of the Oregon and California road already terminates there. This plan, if it can be carried out, will bring all the railroads into a common depot in this city. It depends simply on two things, namely, the vacating of parts of certain streets lying in Couch lake, and the construction of the bridge just below the city. It is not probable that there will be serious opposition to either of these propositions among those who both for the sake of convenience and the enhancement of the value of their property would like to see this magnificent depot built on the west side of the river. The company is, however, prepared with an alternative. It can use the tract below Albina, where it has also river front and sufficient room, crossing the Northern Pacific from Kalama at St. Johns or some other point below, and adopting for the west side road the route of the narrow gauge, crossing at Oswego and bringing this road also into the common depot on the east side.

But the advantages to Portland of having the depot on this side must be apparent and the conditions on which it may be secured, it would appear, might be readily conceded, without the slightest inconvenience to the public or injury to any individual. The bridge across the Willamette will be entirely below the city limits and will not be in the way of any dock property, while the portions of the streets to be vacated lie in an impassable swamp, or in deep water, the year round. But already we hear there is objection to the bridge. Why, we are not informed. Perhaps the objection grows out of an excessive conservatism which believes in primitive conditions and opposes every improvement as a blot upon the ways of nature. But when the question is brought before the people of Portland whether they will have the great depot in the city or on the opposite side and below the city, there can be no doubt what the expression will be.

THE POSTAL SAVINGS BILL.

The report from the committee on postoffices and post roads, of the house of representatives, to accompany the bill to establish a postal savings depository as a branch of the postoffice department, has been printed for the information of the country. It is a review of the workings and results of the system in other countries, with an urgent recommendation for its adoption by the United States. It is not, indeed, urged with a view to interference with or supersedence of savings banks carried on by private enterprise; but it is insisted that private enterprise alone does not and cannot, in this respect, meet the necessities of the industrious poor in any country, and least of all in the United States. It is true that in those states where the population is clustered about mills and factories, these institutions are supplied in a greater degree than in other parts of the union. In New England there is one savings bank for 9436 inhabitants. It is not supposed that so long as these banks are well and successfully managed the proposed system will in any considerable degree interfere with their business. But in much the larger number of states these institutions are comparatively few. Outside of New England there is but one savings bank to every 225,000 people. This is the average for thirty-two states. In some localities there is hardly one savings bank to a million inhabitants.

On the 30th June last there were 5449 money-order postoffices in the United States. The report suggests that if the postmaster general were to designate all of these as sub-depositories under the proposed act the people of the whole country would be no better accommodated, in point of numbers, than are those of New England. It is urged, moreover, that it is impossible for private enterprise to supply this want, while it is possible for government to supply it. The offices are already open at the places where this business can be most conveniently transacted. there are excellent facilities for transporting the deposits to a common center for investment, and nearly the whole necessary machinery is already in operation.

The system has been in operation in Great Britain since 1861. It has had a very rapid growth; the number of postoffice depositories and the number and amount of deposits has steadily increased, showing that the system supplies an actual public want. At the close of the year 1880 the depositories numbered 6233 and the amount standing to the credit of depositors was the prodigious sum of £33,-336,362 18, entered upon 2,184,972 pass books. The number of deposits that year was 3,754,-069—a number which shows how widely the system is used by the people. The postoffice pays 2½ per cent. on deposits, and adds the accrued interest to the principal of the depositor's account on the last day of December in each year. The system is intended for savings; it is not designed to encourage large deposits. No depositor is permitted to deposit more than £30 in any one year ending on the 31st of December, nor to have standing to his credit, exclusive of interest, more than £150.

In many of the British colonies the system has been put in operation. It has also been adopted in Italy, Belgium and Holland. France also has passed an enabling act, but has not yet got the system in working order.

The bill recommended by the postoffice committee provides in substance that all money order offices of the United States shall be entitled to receive deposits; that no deposit can be less than ten cents nor more than one hundred dollars; that no more than one hundred dollars can be deposited by one person within any period of thirty days; that the whole amount which may be deposited by one person shall not exceed five hundred dollars; that the money deposited shall be forwarded by the postmaster who receives it to some government depository and invested by the secretary of the treasury in some interest-bearing security issued or guaranteed by the United States, or if these cannot be purchased without loss to the depository then in approved state securities; that the account of each depositor shall be kept at the central depository in Washington, where interest at the rate of two per cent. per annum is to be computed and credited, and that the expense of carrying on the system shall be paid from the profits of the business. The rate of interest is very low, but deposits will be exempt from every form of taxation, and the provision of perfect security will be an important recommendation. Even with the low interest provided the system will undoubtedly be used extensively by those whose savings are small and who are unable to find other safe ways to invest or keep them.

SUNNY VIEWS OF SIBERIA.

Deportation of political offenders to Siberia has long been regarded as one of the chief employments of the Russian government. It is an active business since all who manifest their dislike of the government are treated as political offenders. Terrible stories are told of the treatment of prisoners in Siberian mines; but now we are informed that the world has shuddered needlessly at these recitals, since the condition of the exiles is not at all so hard as usually represented. This information comes from Mr. George Kennan, who has been exploring the country in the telegraph interest, and from Rev. Henry Lansdell, an English missionary, both of whom deny most of the frightful stories. If we are to believe them, much of the territory offers hardly less inducement to colonists than our northern frontier. Nearly all the persons banished, they say, are allowed reasonable liberty. Only the worst criminals are kept at work, and these are employed in a coal mine and a placer gold mine, but not confined below ground. The country, which contains 6,000,000 square miles, is said to be much like the wooded sections of Minnesota, except on its northern border, which is perpetually frozen and its southern section which in summer is extremely warm. Very often Russian village communities send drunkards and vagabonds to Siberia, where the government furnishes them with a certain amount of support until they get regularly to work. This class of the banished makes about 30 per cent. of the whole, and only 6 per cent. of the total number of exiles sent between 1867 and 1872 were sentenced to hard labor.

It is to be noted, however, that Mr. Kennan and Mr. Lansdell derived much of their information from the government officials by whom they were entertained. It would be interesting to hear what the exiles have to say for themselves. Gentleness has not been a characteristic of Russian policy or Russian justice; and in all probability these two travelers did not see everything that might be seen in a country 2500 miles wide and 5000 miles long. Banishment to Siberia is scarcely desirable; if it were the Russian government, which is nothing if not rigorous, would hardly adopt it as a method of banishing those who incur its displeasure.

Colorado had in the past winter the most favorable season for its vast herds of cattle known in that region for the past twenty years and the effect will be felt in the markets of the country. All the great grazing regions were remarkable for their grass products, and well cured on the ground, the snow having been comparatively light, and cattle in all parts of that country are sleek and fat. Colorado's yield of cattle for market this season will produce a revenue double that of last year.

A bill has been introduced in the assembly of New York providing that it shall be unlawful for any company or corporation carrying passengers to charge for the conveyance of the governor, state officers, members of the legislature, judges or justices of the courts of record in that state. If that bill should pass, everybody would want to be an official within the limits of the foregoing enumeration, and there is enough scrambling for those offices now.

Efforts in England to raise memorials to great men are not more successful than in the United States to General Garfield. Of the $30,000 asked for one to the memory of Dean Stanley, less than $20,000 have been subscribed. It was thought to be the easiest thing in the world to raise $100,000 or $200,000 for a Lord Beaconsfield memorial, but the subscription has come to a standstill with less than $30,000.

According to the American Banker's Magazine the amount of capital invested in railroads in the United States is about 4800 millions of dollars. Of this enormous sum fifty-two per cent, or more than half, does not pay returns on the investment.

NOTICE.

THE STATEMENT OF MY HUSBAND, AUG. Delby, that I had left his bed and board is untrue, as the reverse is the case, he having deserted me without cause. He has used moneys I have given him to set him up in business and left me without means, as I can show by witnesses. I have been at St. Vincent's hospital and incapable of late to help myself. His association with low women has been the cause of trouble between us. I make these statements in order to show that I am wronged, not he.

CITY.

BIG EVENTS.—The Chinese theater company have a great movement on hand. For several weeks past many of the company have been busy making pasteboard masks of all kinds and descriptions. Many of them are very ingeniously manufactured out of pulp, which is shaped like a human head, and painted with the most horrible facial expressions. In most of them the lower jaw is made moveable and is worked with a string. What they are going to do cannot exactly be learned, but from the conversation had with a "boss" of the outfit it would seem that a great tragedy is to be attempted for the first time. They will have a parade en mask up and down Second and Third streets this afternoon. The manager is no novice, for he said to an OREGONIAN reporter, "You give me good talk in paper, I make all right. You come in box tomorrow night." These Chinamen are great imitators.

NARROW ESCAPE.—As the east side train was approaching the L street depot Tuesday, Mr. J. M. Pittinger saw a child playing on the trestle-work south of the depot. Appreciating the danger she was in, he hurried to the child, and after taking her in his arms attempted to return with her. Seeing, however, that the rapidly approaching train would overtake him, he stepped to the farthest end of a cross-beam, upon which he had to stoop very low to prevent being struck by the sides of the cars. After the train had passed he regained the track and carried the child to terra firma. It was a courageous and worthy action, and is deserving of credit.

BOLD THIEF.—F. B. Cloben, better known as "Dutchy," was arrested last night on the corner of First and Alder by constable Grant. About a week ago, he stepped into the rear room of the Columbia beer hall, took therefrom a valise belonging to Charles Morton, came into the saloon and sold the contents to various men assembled there, who believed he owned the valise. A set of shirt studs he sold to the barkeeper. The matter was placed in the hands of Capt. Grant, who after some trouble spotted his man. "Dutchy" is a hanger-on of saloons, and is not the best sort of a citizen.

NEW SURVEY.—Mr. W. B. Marye has just completed a map of the Ainsworth tract, owned by Capt. G. J. Ainsworth, and situated on the east side, three miles north of the base line road, midway between the Willamette and the Columbia rivers. It contains one hundred acres, and is located on the highest ground between the rivers. If Fourth street in East Portland were extended north, it would pass the west side of the plat. The lots are 137 by 230 feet, containing five-sixths of an acre. They will soon be thrown on the market.

A FLOATING COFFIN.—The old "opposition" boat the William Taber, is, it seems, still in existence, and has lately been transferred to Nicholas Lunning, who will put her on the northern route, between San Francisco and Portland, in opposition to Villard's line, of which Goodall, Perkins & Co. are agents. The papers state the "consideration" on the record to be $5, which is about $5 more than the old tub is worth.—Santa Barbara Press. Such enterprise should be frowned down by a humane public.—S. F. New Age.

DOING IT THEMSELVES.—Johnson creek is now being turned so that Twentieth, Twenty-first, H and I streets can be filled and graded. The work is being done by citizens who own property in that neighborhood, and is progressing rapidly. A wooden culvert is under construction over the new channel for the creek. Earth is being hauled to the streets to fill them by quite a crowd, among whom are three women, who seem to accomplish as much as their stronger fellow-laborers.

NEW PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT.—Mr. D. C. Ireland, for ten years editor of the Astorian, and Mr. Frank W. Baltes, formerly foreman of the paper, have opened a first-class job printing office in Smith's block, over Congle & Co.'s. The firm name is F. W. Baltes & Co. Both gentlemen have had abundant experience in the art preservative of all arts, and bring with them business ability and energy which will win success.

WANTS HIS MONEY.—Suit was yesterday begun in Justice Davis' court by J. G. Wiedeman against Elizabeth and J. W. Crane to recover $100, which he claims to have paid them. Wiedeman says he was to have bought a gristmill of the defendants, and paid them $100 to bind the bargain. However, the negotiation was never consummated, and he wants to recover the money he paid them. The case will be decided to-day.

FIRE ENGINE WANTED.—The town of McMinnville has appointed J. C. Cooper and H. Adams as a committee to visit Portland and make arrangements for the purchase of a hand-fire engine and hose for that place. They will probably visit the various engine houses and examine their apparatus to-day.

LARGE INCREASE.—Official returns from the Portland post office for February show an increase of 84 per cent. in receipts over the corresponding month last year. The average increase of thirty-one leading post offices, embracing every section of the United States, was 25 per cent.

STEWART SENTENCED.—George Stewart was yesterday tried in Justice Poirain's court for maliciously breaking some furniture in a disreputable house on Yamhill street. After a long hearing he was found guilty and fined $50. In default of payment he was sent to the county jail.

NEARLY READY FOR WORK.—The new steamer Montesano is now receiving at Astoria her finishing touches, which will be completed in a few days. She will then immediately be put on the route from Gray's Harbor up the Chehalis river.

NEW COASTER.—The machinery for the new Ilwaco steamer, now under construction at Astoria, is expected to arrive on the next incoming steamer. She will be completed within six weeks, and will cost about $30,000.

CASE DECIDED.—In the case of the Bank of British Columbia against George Marshall, in the U. S. circuit court, yesterday, motion for a new trial was denied and judgment rendered for plaintiff on the verdict.

TO SAIL LATER.—The Oregon will sail for San Francisco at 8:30 Saturday morning, instead of midnight Friday. Letters dropped into street boxes Friday night will be in time for the steamer.

EXECUTOR APPOINTED.—The will of E. J. Lavoie was yesterday admitted to probate, and Dominic La Feyre appointed executor. The estate is said to amount to several thousand dollars.

TO WEIGH MAILS.—Commencing April 1, all mails carried out from Portland by rail will be weighed for one month in order to fix the compensation for the next four years.

BRIEF MENTION.

Sheridan to-night.

The State sails for Portland this morning.

Edward Miller's condition was somewhat worse yesterday.

Capt. B. B. Tuttle, of the railway mail service, arrived yesterday from a trip to Tucson, Arizona.

Martin Patrick was fined $10 in the police court yesterday for following women about the streets.

The Oregon Furniture Company have moved salesrooms and offices to their splendid new block on First near Taylor.

Several trees on Oak street, near Third, were yesterday cut down, which improves the appearance of that corner very much.

Services will be held in Trinity mission chapel, corner Sixteenth and S streets this evening at 7:30. Sermon by one of the city clergy.

Last night Chief of Police Lappeus received a letter from Mrs. Minnie Alm, of Chicago, who is a sister of Henry Prang, inquiring for full particulars of the latter's death.

Mr. J. G. Scoby of San Francisco, is in the city making arrangements for opening a furniture establishment for F. S. Chadbourne & Co., in the building recently vacated by the Oregon Furniture Co. Mr. Scoby will be local manager.

It is with great satisfaction that we have to notice that Messrs. Mayre & Browne have established themselves in this city, as civil engineers and surveyors. Mr. Mayre is well known as the late assistant city surveyor, and there is ample proof of his ability. As regards Mr. Browne, we learn he is thoroughly conversant with the profession and has acquired an experience of considerable value and variety during a number of years. The new firm announce they are ready for city, county, mining and ditch surveying, and work in all branches of their profession. The new firm have our best wishes, and with a continuance of the active business in real estate there is good reason to believe Messrs. Mayre & Brown will realize their best expectations.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

KALAMA, March 22.—A most distressing accident occurred at Mount Vernon, about six miles from Kalama, yesterday afternoon. Gussie Graves a six-year-old stepson of W. J. Magoon, was caught and terribly mangled by a cougar. The little fellow was several rods away from the house when he was heard to scream. Miss Batill, a neighbor who was there on a visit, first caught sight of the animal and her cries brought the others to the spot. When he saw Miss B. he dropped the boy and turned to attack her, but seeing the others approaching, turned and seizing the boy again attempted to drag him over a fence. At this point Miss Graves struck him with a stick when he dropped the boy and walked away growling.

But faint hopes are entertained of the boy's recovery. Almost the entire scalp is torn off, the right ear is torn loose from the skull, the right eye almost torn out, and the skull fractured in three places. Dr. Thornton of Kalama is attending the sufferer. Mr. Magoon was in Kalama when the accident happened. A party of men with dogs are now hunting for the monster, and will spare no effort to find and kill him.

LATER.—A messenger has just arrived with news of the boy's death.

FATAL MISTAKE.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

OAKLAND, OR., March 22.—M. S. Hendricks, aged 17, while hunting yesterday with James Clarke a neighbor and friend, in Shoestring valley, Douglas county, was mistaken by his companion for a deer and shot through the body. He died to-day.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

VALUABLE PROPERTY AT AUCTION.—Attention is directed to the advertisement by J. F. O. Lowsdale, under "New To-day," of a valuable piece of property to be sold at auction.

The new style in hats is the "Rising Star." We saw a mercantile traveler buy the first one at Mensdorffer's yesterday, and he pronounced it "Just what he had been looking for."

PACIFIC COAST PLUG TOBACCOS.

Mr. T. Dittenhoefer, the well-known wholesale tobacconist, has just received from the Seal Rock tobacco company of San Francisco the first shipment of "Express" and "Pluck" chewing tobacco. The company was recently organized with a capital stock of $3,000,000, J. Brandenstein, president and Witcher Jones, superintendent, and is the only plug tobacco factory on this coast. The "Express" and "Pluck" brands are made of the finest Virginia leaf, in plugs from three to fourteen ounces, and for purity and flavor are said by experts to surpass the favorite brands of best eastern manufacture.

DISASTROUS ACCIDENT.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

BISMARCK, March 22.—A terrible wreck has occurred at Sweet Briar, about 40 miles west of here, on the Northern Pacific. An engine came here from Mandan for physicians and assistance to attend the sufferers in the wreck. It is stated that Black Jack's work train bound west went through a bridge and the passenger train, a little behind, followed. Thirty persons are reported killed and many more injured. All physicians to be found in this city have just started on a special engine for the wreck. Full particulars at this hour are impossible.

CHICAGO, March 22.—Following is the latest from the most reliable source. A Bismarck special to the Tribune via the train just arrived, says: Nine men were instantly killed and eleven others injured. The cars caught fire and two men were burned. The accident happened two miles west of Sweetbrier, at a place known as Sorapshire Cut, at the crossing of Heart river. Four bents of the bridge gave way. Only the work train was wrecked. Jack Simon was in charge. The latter was known as Black Jack. A snow plow which was ahead of the wrecked train is now on route to Mandan with the killed and injured on board.

Charles Hamer of Catching slough has sold the timber on his claim to Simpson Bros. Consideration $... The timber will be removed by R. S. Scranton and floated to the North Bend mill.

Coos county needs more such ranchers as Stephen C. Rogers of Coos river. Two years ago he cut 200 tons of hay. Last year he put up about 300 tons and and is now selling wheat and oat hay at his ranch at $15 per ton. Within the last three months he has realized about $3000 from his work.

The business of the Roseburg land office for the month of February, 1882, is as follows: Cash entries, 1777 acres; homestead entries 14, embracing 1791 acres; final homestead entries 6, embracing 522 acres; preemption filed, 10; soldier's declaration, 1; timber entries, embracing 13 acres.

The schooner Hermina, the Free Trade, and the Wilson, made the run from San Francisco to the Coquille bar in less than three days, and then had to lie outside for twelve days before they could get in. These three vessels loaded at Hirsch, Bennett & Co.'s mill, Coquille City. The Hermina took 25,000 feet of hardwood lumber and 40,000 feet of cedar; the Free Trade took 120,000 feet of white cedar and the Wilson took 10 tons of wheat and 50,000 feet of cedar.

A correspondent of the Coos Bay Mail says: An opinion is current here, among a certain class, that there is no money in farming; and it holds good of the business as carried on by a good many. If I may presume to point out what I consider the defects of a system that is ten times older than my brief experience, I should say: Too many radish-peddling farmers who produce but little and wear that little out hauling and packing it around, trying to get a great deal out of it; too many fine marshes lying unreclaimed that ought to be producing four tons of hay per acre every year, or pasturage for thousands of head of horses and dairy cows, instead of the few dozens they do now; too many able-bodied men and dogs engaged in the barbarous business of exterminating the deer and other game animals; too much shot-gun and Winchester and not enough grubhoe and mowing machine; too much money paid for St. Patrick's ball tickets by those who can't pay their taxes, school their children nor take a paper. This tirade might be spun out almost indefinitely and hit a granger every shot, but perhaps this will do for the present; the rest will be furnished on application. The few sporting farmers exempt from this grumble are mostly old bachelors with no one dependent on them, no creditors and no use for their time but to kill it.

I HAVE BEEN SUFFERING FOR SEVERAL years from that most disagreeable ailment Rheumatism. Last winter I was greatly troubled with the complaint being unable to attend to business. During this period I learned of a little German Doctor who had cured Mr. Dellinger, who had been ailing with Rheumatism for ten years, and who is now going around without assistance. I called the doctor who gave me a bottle of medicine which greatly relieved me. He gave me a second bottle, which has the effect of curing me entirely.

Police Force to be Increased.

WINNIPEG, March 26.—Official information has been received at the Indian department here that the dominion government has decided to increase the northwest mounted police to 300. It is said the present force is overtaxed, and officers have expressed themselves to the government on the necessity of a larger force.

In the effort to blacken the reputation of President Garfield, the stalwarts and the democratic press have been drawn very closely together. Guiteau's work is being ably seconded by the combination.—Chicago Tribune.

A woman has just walked with an infant child from Philadelphia to Chicago. As there were no outstanding bets on her and no gate money, she had to go to the work house.

... employment to a large number of men. The next largest works are located at Terre Haute; fourth, at Cambridge City; fifth, at Indianapolis; sixth, at Lafayette; seventh, at Elkhart; eighth, at Laporte. It may be said that Pennsylvania builds more cars than does Indiana, but to support this statement it would be necessary to include car works which are owned largely and operated chiefly by the Erie and Pennsylvania railroad companies, but not independent enterprises like the car establishments of ...—Indianapolis Journal.

... it takes an hour and a half to make a pail, and they sell for 35 cents. It is all done by hand labor, with saw, knives, bits and long-handled gouges.

The city of Oshkosh, located on Lake Winnebago in Wisconsin, where lumber is handy, is beginning to brag pretty vigorously about its manufactures. It makes more sash, doors and blinds than any other town in the country, and claims to produce one-tenth of the whole, has the biggest carriage factory in the northwest, and thinks its total manufactures last year approximated $15,000,000.

THE DEPOT

The [illegible] selected for a [illegible] railroad depot in this city, it is well known, is based upon the [illegible] of a number of full blocks in the northern part of the city adjoining and including [illegible] blocks north of [illegible]. The number of full blocks included in this purchase is seventeen, together with a tier of five full blocks on one side and four and a half blocks on the other. It includes all the tract bounded by H and M, North Seventh and North Eighth streets, except part of one block. Besides this tract the company owns eight or nine blocks lying along the river front from the foot of N street to the upper end of Ainsworth dock. These depot grounds are not too large for the business which many railroads will concentrate here. Their proximity to the water front is also an important consideration, in view of the necessary connection of our railroad system with river and ocean shipping.

But to render this tract available for the purpose portions of streets must be vacated, since a depot which is to be the centre of so many roads doing so great a business must have unobstructed approaches. But the company owns all the property on both sides of such portions of the streets as would be vacated for this purpose, and besides these sections of the streets lie almost or indeed wholly in the lake and of course have never been used.

The roads from the east—the O R & N Company's line and the Northern Pacific intersecting the Oregon and California at the present terminus of the latter road on the east side of the river, will follow down the bank of the river on that side to the tract purchased by the company just below Albina. The plan requires the construction of a railroad bridge just above the head of Swan island. This will bring all the roads across the river whence by easy curves the return up the river to the depot on this side may be made. The Northern Pacific from Kalama will also enter at the same point, and the west side division of the Oregon and California road already terminates there. This plan, if it can be carried out, will bring all the railroads into a common depot in this city. It depends simply on two things, namely, the vacating of parts of certain streets lying in Couch lake, and the construction of the bridge just below the city. It is not probable that there will be serious opposition to either of these propositions among those who both for the sake of convenience and the enhancement of the value of their property would like to see this magnificent depot built on the west side of the river. The company is however, prepared with an alternative. It can use the tract below Albina, where it has also river front and sufficient room, crossing the Northern Pacific from Kalama at St Johns or some other point below, and adopting for the west side road the route of the narrow gauge, crossing at Oswego and bringing this road also into the common depot on the east side.

But the advantages to Portland of having the depot on this side must be apparent, and the conditions on which it may be secured, it would appear, might be readily conceded without the slightest inconvenience to the public or injury to any individual. The bridge across the Willamette will be entirely below the city limits and will not be in the way of any lock property, while the portions of the streets to be vacated lie in an impassable swamp, or in deep water, the year round. But already we hear there is objection to the bridge. Why, we are not informed. Perhaps the objection grows out of an excessive conservatism which believes in primitive conditions and opposes every improvement as a blot upon the ways of nature. But when the question is brought before the people of Portland whether they will have the great depot in the city or on the opposite side and below the city there can be no doubt what the expression will be.

THE POSTAL SAVINGS BILL

The report from the committee on postoffices and post roads, of the house of representatives, to accompany the bill to establish a postal savings depository as a branch of the postoffice department, has been printed for the information of the country. It is a review of the workings and results of the system in other countries, with an urgent recommendation for its adoption by the United States. It is not, indeed, urged with a view to interference with or supersedence of savings banks carried on by private enterprise, but it is insisted that private enterprise alone does not and cannot, in this respect, meet the necessities of the industrious poor in any country, and least of all in the United States. It is true that in those states where the population is clustered about mills and factories, these institutions are supplied in a greater degree than in other parts of the union. In New England there is one savings bank for 9456 inhabitants. It is not supposed that so long as these banks are well and successfully managed the proposed system will in any considerable degree interfere with their business. But in much the larger number of states these institutions are comparatively few. Outside of New England there is but one savings bank to every 225,000 people. This is the average for thirty two states. In some localities there is hardly one savings bank to a million inhabitants.

On the 30th June last there were 5449 money-order postoffices in the United States. The report suggests that if the postmaster general were to designate all of these as sub-depositories under the proposed act the people of the whole country would be no better accommodated, in point of numbers, than are those of New England. It is urged moreover that it is impossible for private enterprise to supply this want, while it is possible for government to supply it. The offices are already open at the places where this business can be most conveniently transacted, there are excellent facilities for transporting the deposits to a common center for investment and nearly the whole necessary machinery is already in operation.

The system has been in operation in Great Britain since 1861. It has had a very rapid growth; the number of postoffice depositories and the number and amount of deposits has steadily increased showing that the system supplies an actual public want. At the close of the year 1880 the depositories numbered 6239 and the amount standing to the credit of depositors was the prodigious sum of $164,336,382 10 entered upon 2,184,972 pass books. The number of deposits that year was 3,754,069, a number which shows how widely the system is used by the people. The postoffice pays 2½ per cent on deposits and adds the accrued interest to the principal of the depositor's account on the last day of December in each year. The system is intended for savings; it is not designed to encourage large deposits. No depositor is permitted to deposit more than £30 in any one year ending on the 31st of December, nor to have standing to his credit, exclusive of interest, more than £150.

In many of the British colonies the system has been put in operation. It has also been ad[illegible] in Italy, B[illegible] and Holland. France also has passed an enabling act but has not yet got the system in working order.

The bill as amended by the postoffice committee provides in substance that all money order offices in the United States shall be authorized to receive deposits; that no deposit can be less than ten cents or more than one hundred dollars, that not more than [illegible] hundred dollars shall be deposited by any one person within any period of thirty days, and that [illegible] amount which may be credited to one person shall not exceed [illegible]; that the moneys deposited shall be forwarded [illegible] postmaster, who shall [illegible] in some government depository and invested by the secretary of the treasury in [illegible] bonds guaranteed by the United States, or if these cannot be had without loss to the depositors, then in approved state securities; that the amount of such deposits shall be kept at the central depository in Washington with interest at the rate of two per cent per annum, to be computed and credited, and that the expense of carrying on the system shall be paid from the profits of the business. The rate of interest is very low but deposits will be exempt from every form of taxation and the provision of perfect security will be an important recommendation. Even with the low interest provided the system will undoubtedly be used extensively by those whose savings are small and who are unable to find other safe ways to invest or keep them.

SUNNY VIEWS OF SIBERIA

Deportation of political offenders to Siberia has long been regarded as one of the chief employments of the Russian government. It is an active business since all who manifest their dislike of the government are treated as political offenders. Terrible stories are told of the treatment of prisoners in Siberian mines but now we are informed that the world has slandered needlessly at these recitals, since the condition of the exiles is not at all so hard as usually represented. This information comes from Mr George Kennan, who has been exploring the country in the telegraph interest, and from Rev Henry Lansdell, an English missionary, both of whom deny most of the frightful stories. If we are to believe them much of the territory offers hardly less inducement to colonists than our northern frontier. Nearly all the persons banished, they say, are allowed reasonable liberty. Only the worst criminals are kept at work and these are employed in a coal mine and a placer gold mine but not confined below ground. The country, which contains 5,000,000 square miles, is said to be much like the wooded sections of Minnesota, except on its northern border, which is perpetually frozen, and its southern section which in summer is extremely warm. Very often Russian village communities send drunkards and vagabonds to Siberia, where the government furnishes them with a certain amount of support until they get regularly to work. This class of the banished makes about 20 per cent of the whole, and only 6 per cent of the total number of exiles sent between 1867 and 1872 were sentenced to hard labor.

It is to be noted, however, that Mr. Kennan and Mr Lansdell derived much of their information from the government officials by whom they were entertained. It would be interesting to hear what the exiles have to say for themselves. Gentleness has not been a characteristic of Russian policy or Russian justice, and in all probability these two travelers did not see everything that might be seen in a country 2500 miles wide and 5000 miles long. Banishment to Siberia is scarcely desirable, if it were the Russian government which is nothing if not rigorous would hardly adopt it as a method of banishing those who incur its displeasure.

Colorado had in the past winter the most favorable season for its vast herds of cattle known in that region for the past twenty years and the effect will be felt in the markets of the country. All the great grazing regions were remarkable for their grass products, and well cured on the ground, the snow having been comparatively light, and cattle in all parts of that country are sleek and fat. Colorado's yield of cattle for market this season will produce a revenue double that of last year.

A bill has been introduced in the assembly of New York providing that it shall be unlawful for any company or corporation carrying passengers to charge for the conveyance of the governor, state officers, members of the legislature, judges or justices of the courts of record in that state. If that bill should pass everybody would want to be an official within the limits of the foregoing enumeration and there is enough scrambling for those offices now.

Efforts in England to raise memorials to great men are not more successful than in the United States to General Garfield. Of the $30,000 asked for one to the memory of Dean Stanley, less than $20,000 have been subscribed. It was thought to be the easiest thing in the world to raise $100,000 or $200,000 for a Lord Beaconsfield memorial, but the subscription has come to a standstill with less than $30,000.

According to the American Banker's Magazine the amount of capital invested in railroads in the United States is about 4800 millions of dollars. Of this enormous sum fifty-two per cent., or more than half, does not pay returns on the investment.

CITY.

BIG DOLLS.—The Chinese theater company have a great excitement on hand. For several weeks past many of the company have been busy making pasteboard masks of all kinds and descriptions. Many of them are very ingeniously manufactured out of pulp, which is shaped like a human head, and painted with the most horrible facial expressions. In most of them the lower jaw is made movable and is worked with a string. What they are going to do cannot exactly be learned, but from the conversation had with a "boss" of the outfit it would seem that a great tragedy is to be attempted for the first time. They will have a parade en mask up and down Second and Third streets this afternoon. The manager is no novice, for he said to an OREGONIAN reporter: "You give me good talk in paper, I makee all right. You come in box to-morrow night." These Chinamen are great imitators.

NARROW ESCAPE.—As the east side train was approaching the L street depot Tuesday, Mr. J. M. Pittinger saw a child playing in the trestle-work south of the depot. Appreciating the danger she was in, he hurried to the child, and after taking her in his arms attempted to return with her. Seeing, however, that the rapidly approaching train would overtake him, he stepped to the farthest end of a crossbeam, upon which he had to stoop very low to prevent being struck by the sides of the cars. After the train had passed he regained the track and carried the child to terra firma. It was a courageous and worthy action and is deserving of credit.

BOLD THEFT.—F. B. Clohen, better known as "Dutchy," was arrested last night on the corner of First and Alder by constable Grant. About a week ago, he stepped into the rear room of the Columbia beer hall, took therefrom a valise belonging to Charles Morton, came into the saloon and sold the contents to various men assembled there, who believed he owned the valise. A set of shirt studs he sold to the barkeeper. The matter was placed in the hands of Capt. Grant, who after some trouble spotted his man. "Dutchy" is a hanger-on of saloons, and is not the best sort of a citizen.

NEW SUBURB.—Mr. W. B. Marye has just completed a map of the Ainsworth tract, owned by Capt. G. J. Ainsworth, and situated on the east side, three miles north of the base line road, midway between the Willamette and the Columbia rivers. It contains one hundred acres, and is located on the highest ground between the rivers. If Fourth street in East Portland were extended north, it would pass the west side of the plat. The lots are 137 by 200 feet, containing five-sixths of an acre. They will soon be thrown on the market.

A FLOATING COFFIN.—The old "opposition" boat the William Tabor, is, it seems, still in existence, and has lately been transferred to Nicholas Lunning, who will put her on the northern route, between San Francisco and Portland, in opposition to Villard's line, of which Goodall, Perkins & Co. are agents. The papers state the "consideration" on the record to be $5, which is about $5 more than the old tub is worth.—Santa Barbara Press. Such enterprise should be frowned down by a humane public.—S. F. New Age.

DOING IT THEMSELVES.—Johnson creek is now being turned so that Twentieth, Twenty-first, H and I streets can be filled and graded. The work is being done by citizens who own property in that neighborhood, and is progressing rapidly. A wooden culvert is under construction over the new channel for the creek. Earth is being hauled to the streets to fill them by quite a crowd, among whom are three women, who seem to accomplish as much as their stronger fellow-laborers.

NEW PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT.—Mr. D. C. Ireland, for ten years editor of the Astorian, and Mr. Frank W. Baltes, formerly foreman of the paper, have opened a first-class job printing office in Smith's block, over Congle & Co.'s. The firm name is F. W. Baltes & Co. Both gentlemen have had abundant experience in the art preservative of all arts, and bring with them business ability and energy which will win success.

WANTS HIS MONEY.—Suit was yesterday begun in Justice Davis' court by J. G. Wiedeman against Elizabeth and J. W. Crane to recover $100, which he claims to have paid them. Wiedeman says he was to have bought a gristmill of the defendants, and paid them $100 to bind the bargain. However, the negotiation was never consummated, and he wants to recover the money he paid them. The case will be decided to-day.

FIRE ENGINE WANTED.—The town of McMinnville has appointed J. C. Cooper and H. Adams as a committee to visit Portland and make arrangements for the purchase of a hand fire engine and hose for that place. They will probably visit the various engine houses and examine their apparatus to-day.

LARGE INCREASE.—Official returns from the Portland post office for February show an increase of 34½ per cent. in receipts over the corresponding month last year. The average increase of thirty-nine leading post offices, embracing every section of the United States, was 25 per cent.

STEWART SENTENCED.—George Stewart was yesterday tried in Justice Potrain's court for maliciously breaking some furniture in a disreputable house on Yamhill street. After a long hearing he was found guilty and fined $50. In default of payment he was sent to the county jail.

NEARLY READY FOR WORK.—The new steamer Montesano is now receiving at Astoria her finishing touches, which will be completed in a few days. She will then immediately be put on the route from Gray's Harbor up the Chehalis river.

NEW COASTER.—The machinery for the new Ilwaco steamer, now under construction at Astoria, is expected to arrive on the next incoming steamer. She will be completed within six weeks, and will cost about $33,000.

CASE DECIDED.—In the case of the Bank of British Columbia against George Marshall, in the U. S. circuit court, yesterday, motion for a new trial was denied and judgment rendered for plaintiff on the verdict.

TO SAIL LATER.—The Oregon will sail for San Francisco at 8:00 Saturday morning, instead of midnight Friday. Letters dropped into street boxes Friday night will be in time for the steamer.

EXECUTOR APPOINTED.—The will of E. J. Lavoie was yesterday admitted to probate, and Dominic La Fevre appointed executor. The estate is said to amount to several thousand dollars.

TO WEIGH MAILS.—Commencing April 1, all mails carried out from Portland by rail will be weighed for one month in order to fix the compensation for the next four years.

BRIEF MENTION.

Sheridan to-night.

The State sails for Portland this morning.

Edward Miller's condition was somewhat worse yesterday.

Mary Shields yesterday brought suit against her husband, Thomas Shields, for divorce.

Capt. B. B. Tuttle of the railway mail service, arrived yesterday from a trip to Tucson, Arizona.

Martin Patrick was fined $10 in the police court yesterday for following women about the streets.

The Oregon Furniture Company have moved salesrooms and offices to their splendid new block on First near Taylor.

Several trees on Oak street, near Third, were yesterday cut down, which improves the appearance of that corner very much.

Services will be held in Trinity mission chapel corner Sixteenth and B streets this evening at 7:30. Sermon by one of the city clergy.

Last night Chief of Police Lappeus received a letter from Mrs. Minnie Alm, of Chicago, who is a sister of Henry Prang, inquiring for full particulars of the latter's death.

Mr. J. G. Scoby of San Francisco, is in the city making arrangements for opening a furniture establishment for F. S. Chadbourne & Co., in the building recently vacated by the Oregon Furniture Co. Mr. Scoby will be local manager.

It is with great satisfaction that we have to notice that Messrs. Mayre & Browne have established themselves in this city as civil engineers and surveyors. Mr. Mayre is well known as the late assistant city surveyor, and there is ample proof of his ability. As regards Mr. Browne, we learn he is thoroughly conversant with the profession and has acquired an experience of considerable value and variety during a number of years. The new firm announce they are ready for city, county, mining and ditch surveying, and work in all branches of their profession. The new firm have our best wishes, and with a continuance of the active business in real estate there is good reason to believe Messrs. Mayre & Brown will realize their best expectations.

Oregon is booming, and so are the spring styles just imported by Woods, the hatter.

Agents and canvassers wanted at New York Novelty, 49 First street, for fast selling articles.

Oscar Wilde is coming and must wear one of Woods, the hatter's latest, or he is no esthete.

Use Pfunder's Oregon Blood Purifier.

TORN TO PIECES.

KALAMA, March 22.—A most distressing accident occurred at Mount Vernon, about six miles from Kalama, yesterday afternoon. Gussie Graves, eight-year-old stepson of W. J. Hague, was caught and terribly mangled by a cougar. The little fellow was several rods away from the house when he was heard to scream. Miss Baird, a neighbor who was there on a visit, first caught sight of the animal and her cries brought the other to the spot. When he saw Miss B. he dropped the boy and turned to attack her, but seeing the others approaching, turned and seizing the boy again attempted to drag him over a fence. At this point Miss Graves struck him with a stick when he dropped the boy and walked away growling.

But faint hopes are entertained of the boy's recovery. Almost the entire scalp is torn off, the right ear is torn loose from the skull, the right eye almost torn out, and the skull fractured in three places. Dr. Thornton of Kalama is attending the sufferer. Mr. Magoon was in Kalama when the accident happened. A party of men with dogs are now hunting for the monster, and will spare no effort to find and kill him.

LATER.—A messenger has just arrived with news of the boy's death.

FATAL MISTAKE.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

OAKLAND, Or., March 22.—M. S. Hendricks, aged 17, while hunting yesterday with James Clarke, a neighbor and friend, in Shoestring valley, Douglas county, was mistaken by his companion for a deer and shot through the body. He died to-day.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Mr. Arthur Kohn is at home after several weeks' absence in New York, buying goods for his father, Joseph Kohn.

VALUABLE PROPERTY AT AUCTION.—Attention is directed to the advertisement by J. P. O. Lownsdale, under "New To-day," of a valuable piece of property to be sold at auction.

The new style in hats is the "Rising Star." We saw a mercantile traveler buy the first one at Meussdorffer's yesterday, and he pronounced it "just what he had been looking for."

PACIFIC COAST PLUG TOBACCOS.

Mr. T. Dittenhoefer, the well-known wholesale tobacconist, has just received from the Heal Rock tobacco company of San Francisco the first shipment of "Express" and "Pluck" chewing tobacco. The company was recently organized with a capital stock of $1,000,000, J. Brauenstein, president and Witcher Jones, superintendent, and is the only plug tobacco factory on this coast. The "Express" and "Pluck" brands are made of the finest Virginia leaf, in plugs from three to fourteen ounces, and for purity and flavor are said by experts to surpass the favorite brands of best eastern manufacture.

DISASTROUS ACCIDENT.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

BISMARCK, March 22.—A terrible wreck has occurred at Sweet Briar, about 40 miles west of here, on the Northern Pacific. An engine has been to Mandan for physicians and assistance for the sufferers in the wreck. It is stated that a freight train bound west went through a bridge, and the passenger train, but little behind, followed. Thirty persons are reported killed and many more injured. All physicians to be found in this city have started on a special engine for the wreck. Full particulars at this hour are impossible.

CHICAGO, March 22.—Following is the latest from the most reliable source: A Bismarck special to the Times via the train just arrived, says: Nine men were instantly killed and eleven others injured. The cars caught fire and two men were burned. The accident happened two miles west of Sweetbriar, at a place known as Sweetbriar cut, at the crossing of Heart river. Abutments of the bridge gave way. Only the work train was wrecked. Jack Simon was in charge. The latter was known as Black Jack. A snow plow which was ahead of the wrecked train is now en route to Mandan with the killed and injured on board.

The business of the Roseburg land office for the month of February, 1882, is as follows: Cash entries, 1777 acres; homestead entries ... embracing 1103 acres; final homestead entries 6, embracing 722 acres; preemption filings ... declarations, 1; timber entries, embracing 43 acres.

The schooner Hermann, the Free Trade and the Wilson, made the run from San Francisco to the Coquille bar in less than five days, and then had to lie off an anchor for twelve days before they could get in. These three vessels loaded at Dunham, Bennett & Co.'s mill, Coquille City. The Hermann took 25,000 feet of hardwood lumber and 10,000 feet of cedar; the Free Trade took 220,000 feet of white cedar and the Wilson took 80 tons of wheat and 50,000 feet of cedar.

A correspondent of the Coos Bay Mail says: An opinion is current here, among a certain class, that there is no money in farming; and it holds good of the business as carried on by a good many. If I may presume to point out what I consider the defects of a system that is too true, after their my brief experience, I should say: Too many rainshepeddling farmers who produce but little and wear that little out hauling and packing it around, trying to get a great deal out of it; too many tide marshes lying unreclaimed that ought to be producing four tons of hay per acre every year, or pasturage for thousands of head of beeves and dairy cows, instead of the few dozens they do now; too many able-bodied men and dogs engaged in the barbarous business of exterminating the deer and other game animals, too much shot gun and Winchester and not enough grubhoe and mowing machine; too much money paid for St. Patrick's ball tickets by those who can't pay their taxes, school their children nor take a paper. This tirade might be spun out almost indefinitely and hit a granger every shot, but perhaps this will do for the present; the rest will be furnished on application. The few sporting farmers exempt from this grumble are mostly old bachelors with no one dependent on them, no creditors and no use for their time but to kill it.

I HAVE BEEN SUFFERING FOR SEVERAL years from that most disagreeable ailment, Rheumatism. As a soldier I was greatly troubled with the complaint, being unable to attend to business. During this period I learned of a little German Doctor who had cured Mr. Dellinger, who had been ailing with rheumatism for ten years, and who is now doing so well as to be around without assistance. I called the doctor, who gave me a bottle of medicine which greatly relieved me. He gave me a second bottle, which had the effect of curing me entirely.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—The steamer Zealandia brings the following news:

HONOLULU, March 11.—King Kalakaua is on a visit to Maui. He is actively engaged in promoting the culture of cinchona, tobacco and ramie. The culture of these products will, it is expected, be aided by some bounty provided by the next legislature.

Great hopes are raised in the islands in connection with the treatment of lepers. Heretofore victims of the disease and their friends resisted segregation of the sick on the island of Molokai. Now that a branch hospital has been established near Honolulu where the diseased can get sight of their friends, they come forward voluntarily to be treated. All hidden lepers have come forth from their retreats and the new treatment and management have produced excellent results.

Planters are uneasy about the supply of labor. Immigration of Chinese has ceased and Norwegian and Portuguese immigrants are so prone to breach of contract and to causelessly injure the good name of the islands that planters want no more of them. Attention is now turned to India and Japan for recruits of laborers and people.

The prohibitory liquor law is much discussed by the public and the loan for internal improvements. The prevailing feeling is that a loan of $2,000,000 is as large a sum as can be judiciously expended for the next two or three years, and can be readily obtained in government bonds at home.

Material for a marine railway in Honolulu has arrived and work is well under way.

Total exports from the kingdom in 1881 were $6,714,726 37, total imports, $4,547,978 64. Imports of American goods for 1881, $3,396,310 84.

THE LUXURIES OF LIFE.

What it Cost During 1881 to Pay for the Articles Imported Into the United States.

The treasury statistics of our imports for the calendar year closing December 31, 1881, show that our people have not yet begun to curtail their purchases of the luxuries of life. In 1879, the last year of the period of business stagnation, our importation of what may be denominated luxuries amounted to $83,000,000, and in 1880, with the renewal of "good times," our people bought of the same articles some $92,000,000, an advance of $25,000,000! It was in that year that the people began to feel like indulging their tastes more freely. The figures of the treasury bureau indicate that the "flush" times are still with us, of which, perhaps, there is no better sign than the purchase of precious stones. In 1879 the importation of diamonds and other gems amounted to $1,727,000, in 1880 to $8,036,000, and last year to $8,727,000. The importation of gems is a very good commercial barometer. When the "times" press hard upon the people the importation is small, but with a rising commercial barometer the dealers in this class of luxuries begin to buy more freely in anticipation of a sure demand for their costly wares. Since 1879 we have more than doubled our purchase of foreign fancy goods, the figures being $4,700,000 against $9,916,000 last year. In musical instruments, a trade which quickly "senses" any change in the feelings of the people who have tastes to gratify, the imports have doubled, rising from $702,000 two years ago, to $1,400,000 last year. In silk goods we are buying a third more than in 1879, the figures for last year being $32,000,000, a decline of $8,000,000 from the imports of 1880; but this decline is no indication of diminished purchasing power among the people; it may be ascribed to overstocking the year before and to change in the fashions. The variation is, however, so slight as to scarcely call for explanation.

OF SILK HOSIERY

Certainly a luxury, pure and simple, we are importing $424,000. Of foreign jewelry we never buy heavily, owing to the duties, and especially the great skill of our home manufacturers. Our bill in this particular can be covered by $450,000 for 1881. Of gloves, principally kid, we continue to buy nearly $4,000,000 worth yearly, but in hard times people curtail their purchase of gloves very quickly. As with diamonds, so with paintings and statuary; the increased purchase of these articles is a sure indication of the "flushness" of the national pocket. In 1879 we bought of these works of art $1,600,000, and last year $2,420,000 worth. Foreign books and engravings make an item of over $3,000,000 in our imports, but two years ago our book buyers and print collectors were far less lavish of their money. The wine and spirit trade is importing nearly $3,000,000 worth more of these luxuries than during the last panic year; the figures for 1881 are $9,512,000. The development of the brewing business in the United States rendered it necessary to buy more than $831,000 worth of Bass' "bitter" and of German lager last year. Of foreign tobacco and cigars (mostly Cuban) we bought in 1881 to the value of $7,700,000, an increase of about $2,000,000 since 1879. Our importation of foreign watches—thanks to the excellence and, indeed, superiority of American machine made watches—is confined mainly to the very costly English and European makes, and also to the very cheapest Swiss grades for the supply of auction shops and the swindling of the simple. But even in these goods our imports are about double what they were in 1879, the figures for 1881 being $2,318,000.

OF FOREIGN LEATHER GOODS,

etc., we are purchasing at the rate of something over $1,000,000 a year. Of furs and dressed skins we imported last year $6,155,000 worth as against some $3,000,000 in 1879. Our imports of foreign glassware have increased from $1,000,000 in 1879 to $2,749,000 last year, and this does not include our purchase of foreign mirrors, which in 1881 amounted to $822,000. Our foreign button bill shows that the domestic industry is not yet up to the demands of taste and fashion. Buttons to the value of $3,786,000 came in last year. In perfumery and cosmetics a little money would seem to have gone a great way, if we may believe the French labels on the preparations on the druggists' counters. The bill for 1881 was only $415,000; but, as I as been hinted, our manufacturers have grown very expert in the preparation of these wares. The carpet industry in this country has reached a high grade of perfection, and to this reason may be ascribed the fact that $812,000 will cover the purchase of foreign carpets last year. French stationery, as sold in the shops, is pretty sure to have been made in western Massachusetts, for our imports of foreign writing paper in 1881 only amounted to $48,000. In woolen dress goods our foreign purchases fell from $14,607,000 to $13,785,000 in 1881. In foreign fruits there was an increased importation, the values being $15,815,000 as against $13,401,000 in 1880. The "gilded youth" and returning tourist patronize the foreign tailor and dressmaker to a smaller extent in 1881 than in 1880, the figures being $740,000, against $898,000, respectively. The fact is, that the foreign tailor does not suit the American taste, except in the case of over-English young swells. There is a lack of style in English tailoring, and the peculiar cut of the garments is apt to render the wearer ridiculous to the ordinary American citizen. At the present time we are buying abroad fully 50 per cent. more of foreign luxuries than two years ago.

One Platt is suing the State Register at Des Moines, Iowa, for $10,000 damages for calling him a masher. This will be but a gloomy world if language is to become that costly. How much would Mr. Platt ask for being denominated a blooming jay, now, for instance?

WHEAT AND FREIGHTS, March 22.

Potatoes, owing to a glut in the San Francisco market—20,000 sacks arrived from Portland within eight days—have declined heavily and cannot be sold for more than 70@75c per bushel. The quantity received here, from a circuit of less than twenty miles, is beyond the greatest estimates and there is no ascertaining what surplus yet remains.

Eggs are dull at 15c per dozen.

NEW YORK FREIGHTS AND MARKETS.

The steamer sails to-morrow and will have a light cargo for San Francisco.

Markets with few exceptions, are inactive.

Combing and delaine selections are steady at 40@50c for fine delaine and fine and medium combings. Unwashed combing is dull at 29@32c. Buckeye and similar grades of California wool are quiet and unchanged. Pulled wool is not varied and has been in steady demand. Choice eastern and Maine supers range from 45@52½; common and good supers, 30@38c. Australian wool, quiet at 45@46c. Cape wool ranges from 28@31 as to quality. The Doctor will agree in writing to forfeit $1,000 for a case that he undertakes and fails to cure.
